

Cutting the Emotional Ties and Reconnecting at the Soul Level

Come back into the personnel power you were born with!

Our parents either help or hinder our power at birth and growing up.

Those we have ever loved either contribute, give too much, control, enable, distract, push away, hang on, or never let go, before, after, or during a relationship.

It doesn't matter if you still love these people or not. It also doesn't matter if they are still in our lives, or if they are deceased.

Significant people in our lives connect to specific energy centers in our bodies.

These energy centers, called Chakras in the East, affect our important creative, emotional, intellectual, and physical attributes.

Cutting the emotional ties does not separate them from us. In fact it makes communication (whether silent, or not) easier without the emotional attachments.

Everyone you've ever loved is on this soul journey with us, even if you don't love them anymore or if they have passed on. Their journey with us has lessons, and gifts. We reconnect at the soul level in order to understand this.
